52 TEXT: The extensive remains of Grummore, a depopulated clachan which was in existence in 1726 and is shown by Roy as a group of five buildings on the west side of the Grummore Burn, with arable on the east. It was cleared, partly in 1814 and finally in 1819 when sixteen houses were burned. The remains consist of building foundations and walls, banks and enclosures. The buildings range from about 5m by 3m to 28m by 4m with walls varying in height from 0.1m to gable height. There are corn-drying kilns at NC 606237I3, 60463662 and 60703678. (OSFI:WDJ:9.5.1961)

'Grummore (name verified) is as described above. There are remains of at least forty-nine buildings
