

To: Highland Council Archaeology Unit
Planning and Development Service

09 SEP 2009
PASS TO	INITIALS	DATE

From: Alan Rowbottom

12 Churchill Way

Acklington

Morpeth

Northumberland

NE65 9DB

5th September 2009

Re: Ranachan Cottage, Strontian, Acharacle, Argyll PH36 4HY. Ref: 09/00276/FULLO

I enclose a photographic record of the above building. The corrugated iron roof is to be replaced with a slated roof. No other changes are proposed to the building.

I have taken 6 photos. Unfortunately due to garden shrubs and trees it is not possible to get photos at right angles to the building. I hope however that these photos suffice.

DSC 04336 -View of front of cottage west end

DSC04337 – View of front of cottage east end

DSC04338 – View of front of cottage from east

DSC04340- West end of cottage

DSC04341 – West end chimney stack

DSC04314 View of rear of cottage looking south east

The photos were taken on 1st September 2009 at approx 15.30

Photos taken by Alan Rowbottom

The cottage was built around 1850. Possibly a millers house as there are the remains of an old mill nearby. It was a croft house in the 20th Century. The extension on the east side was added in 1971

Alan Rowbottom