Detailed description, further notes, observations – continued on next page

House, 7.5 x 4m, stone walls, with fields and wall systems, back of Pat MacPhail's apportionment of Kilchoan common grazings. This looks more like a 'satellite' settlement of Kilchoan clachan rather than a shieling as there are extensive fields showing rig & furrow as well as well-built walls nearby. Typically, the house is built on poor land adjacent to the fields

Present land use

Very rough grazings

Past land use
