Abstract

This survey was conducted as part of a project instigated by Ullapool Museum to survey a number of churchyards in the local area. This report gives details of inscriptions and an index of surnames, with an introduction to the site history.

Acknowledgments

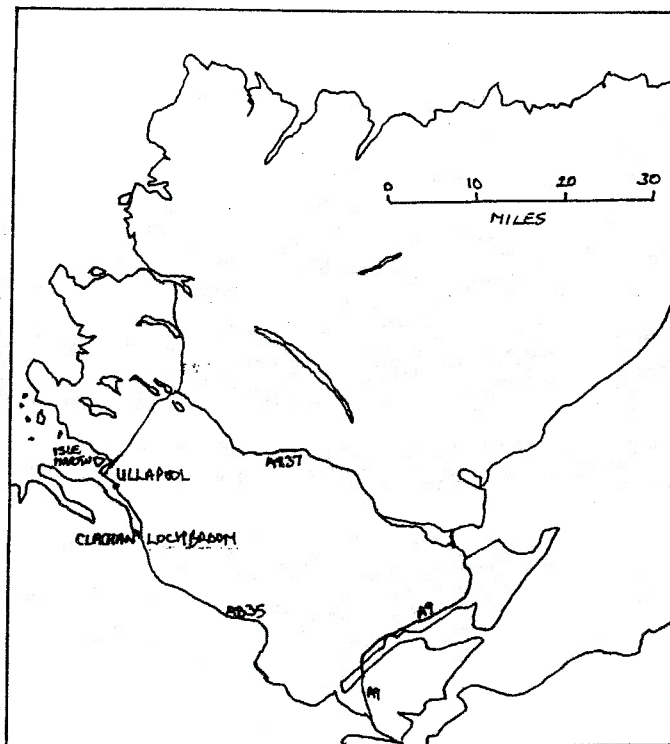

We would like to thank the following people for their help during this survey :

- Mr. Iain Fraser & Mrs Leslie Ferguson, of the Royal Commission on the Ancient and Historic Monuments of Scotland, Edinburgh.
- The following persons for their help during the recording of the gravestones : Mr. & Mrs. Calder, and Mr. Robert Tait, who also helped in the planning of the site and who also took some of the photographs.

This survey was conducted with the help of the following bodies :

- Ullapool Museum;
- Royal Commission on the Ancient & Historic Monuments of Scotland;
- Highland Council Archaeology Unit.

Introduction

The church at Clachan is situated to the head of Loch Broom. It has served as the parish church for over 300 years. Inhumations have taken place here from its earliest beginnings and continue to the present day.

Church History

The medieval church at Clachan was dedicated to St. Donan and belonged to the Cathedral of Ross. The parson, Mathew, is mentioned in a charter of 1227. The present church at Clachan was built in 1817. A possible foundation of an earlier church was found to the NW of the present church in 1962, but might have been part of a graveyard wall.

The Rev Roderick Macrae writing in the First Statistical Account (Sinclair, 1791-99) noted the stipend of the church to be 911 sterling with glebe of 301 and a large tract of ground worth 201, in all 1411 sterling a year. By the Second Statistical Account (NSA, 1845) the Rev Thomas Ross noted the stipend to be '18 chalders, one-half barley, and one-half meal; the former, however being one thirty second part, and the latter, one-ninth part per boll, less than the county measure'.

The parish of Lochbroom united with Ullapool on the 11th September 1956 under the name of Lochbroom and Ullapool.

Church Records

There are no early records of deaths or burials; those of births and marriages exist in parts from 1798 to 1855 in the Old Parochial Registers. The Kirk of Session Records no longer exist; local tradition is of them being lost in a fire, though this could not be confirmed. No records exist in the Highland Council Archives. The only records in the National Archives of Scotland are the records of the Heritor's (HR/545) which comprise of :

- 1 – Minute Book 1895 - 1906
- 2 – Minute Book 1923 – 1928
- 3 – Account Book 1896 – 1934

Ministers of the Church

Four former ministers of the parish are commemorated within the churchyard. (Entry was not made to the church) Number in [] denotes stone number. Ministers of the parish from 1569 to 1959 are as follows -

- | | |
|--|--------------------------------------|

| - 1725 - 1730 - Archibald Bannatyne | - 1927 - 1955 - Duncan MacArthur [1] |
| | - 1956 - 1959 - Duncan Macaulay [32] |

Church Fabric

Built in 1817 and repaired in 1835 and 1878. The church is rectangular in plan with two tiers of windows and a round-arched door in the east gable. The bellcote is possibly of remodeling of 1878.

Date and condition of Monuments

The memorials in the churchyard date from the early 18th century to the modern day. They are in a variety of styles including slabs, obelisks, pedestals, tablestones and headstones. The vast majority is in good condition, only a few being damaged or broken. The churchyard is notable for containing the rectangular rubble-built enclosure of 1666 with a 19th century arched entrance. Enclosing monuments of the family of Mackenzie with the dates 1724 and 1732.

Future Work

No study was made of the Heritor's Books with regard to the history of this site. A detailed study of these documents may give a better understanding of this site.

Recording Form

For the purposes of this survey a recording form was devised based on that recommended by the Council for British Archaeology (Jones 1984). This form being quite detailed (see over), and possibly difficult to use, a simplified form detailing the most important points of recording was drawn up. (see over) This was to include the following :-

1. Full inscription, including all genealogical information.
 2. Type and style of monument.
 3. Orientation and size.
 4. Material used.
 5. Photograph : a colour print (4x5) for attachment to each recording form.
- Also that details of carvings or other comments could be recorded.

Key to Recording Form

1st line - Date of Record - day upon record made;

- Recorder - initials of person making record;
- Memorial No. - number of stone relating to plan;

2nd line - Monument type - what kind of monument is it? Headstone/slab/etc;

3rd line - Material - What it is made of pink/yellow sandstone, granite, slate, etc;

4th line - Faces Inscribed (Compass Points) - What direction does the inscription face?;

5th line - Condition of stone & inscription - overall is the stone and inscription together very good, good, very poor, or poor. Take into consideration the eligibility of the inscription and the stone itself;

6th line - Dimensions - use a handtape or extending ruler to measure size;

7th line - Remarks - describe anything of interest - carvings, condition in general. A sketch of any particular feature of the stone.

8th line - Inscription - record the complete inscription. Write each line as it is on the stone.
